Dr Lalit Saini (left) and Dr Joseph M Brandwein are pictured with the 2015 Lindsay E Nicolle Award. Dr Saini accepted the award for the article “Serum voriconazole level variability in patients with hematological malignancies receiving voriconazole therapy” (L. Saini, JT Seki, D Kumar, EG Atenafu, DEC Cole, BYL Wong, A Botzovic, JM Brandwein. Can J Infect Dis Med Microbiol 2014;25[5]:271-276).

This annual award is sponsored by Pulsus Group and presented in honour of Dr Lindsay E Nicolle, the founding Editor-in-Chief of The Canadian Journal of Infectious Diseases & Medical Microbiology. The award is given to the author of the study that is deemed to have made a significant contribution to Infectious Diseases and Medical Microbiology, as demonstrated by the impact of the original research published in the Journal. The award consists of $1,000 and a piece of Canadian art.

Robert B Kalina (left), Publisher of the Canadian Journal of Infectious Diseases & Medical Microbiology (CJID&MM), presents a cheque to Dr Dan Gregson (right), President of the Association of Medical Microbiology and Infectious Disease Canada (AMMI). Each year, Pulsus Group gives a percentage of revenues associated with the Journal to the Society. As official Journal of this Society, the CJID&MM serves as the key provider for publishing guidelines and resource information critical to their members and Canadian physicians.