

Figure S2. The cellular locations of 132 proteins synthesized were classified in this study. Assignments were made on the basis of information provided on the Swiss-Prot database at the ExPASy Molecular Biology Server. Some proteins were described to be from a different subcellular location, which explains the total sum being substantially larger than 100%.