

In this work, we synthesized the epidemiological evidence to determine the associations between hyperuricemia (HUA) and atrial fibrillation (AF). Data was collected from 11 large-scale cross-sectional and cohort studies with a total of 608810 participants enrolled. And we confirmed that patients with hyperuricemia were easier to suffer from AF.